

Son of Jeremiah and Mary (Kendall) Fuller.

Born January 29, 1799.

Was liberally educated, possessed of sound judgment, clear perceptions, great moral courage, and generous temper. He came to reside in Chittenango about the year 1820, and soon became the general agent and superintendent of the extensive farming, mercantile, and manufacturing interests of Hon. John B. Yates (Union 1802) at that place, and so continued until the decease of that gentleman in 1836; and so highly were his services and fidelity appreciated, that Mr. Yates left him by his will a legacy of $5,000, and appointed him one of its executors. He was engaged in the trust thus confided to him until the final settlement of the estate, which, from unavoidable circumstances, did not occur until 1852. Mr. Fuller died at Chittenango, May 9, 1858, in his 60th year, unmarried, and the only son of Jeremiah, who was not a professional man.

GEORGE K. FULLER

Son of Jeremiah Fuller, on his father's side was a lineal descendant of Samuel Fuller, one of the Puritans who landed from the ship Mayflower at Plymouth Rock in 1620; and on his mother's of one of the Holland families that founded Schenectady. His mother was Mary Kendall, who was born in Yorkshire, England., and came to this country with her father and brother about the year 1787. (He was a brother of William K. Fuller, Class of 1810; Samuel, Class of 1815; Edward, Class of 1826)

George K. Fuller came to reside in Chittenango, N. Y., about the year 1820. He had not resided there long before Mr. John B. Yates, (Class of 1802) constituted him his general agent, and superintendent of his farming, mercantile and manufacturing concerns at Chittenango. He acted in that capacity until the decease of Mr. Yates in 1836. As an acknowledgment of his faithful services, Mr. Yates left him by his will a legacy of $5,000, and appointed him one of his executors. He was engaged in the trust thus confided to him till the final settlement of the estate, which from unavoidable circumstances did not occur till 1852. Possessed of sound judgment, clear perceptions, great moral courage and generous temper, he was well adapted to the positions allotted to him in life. He was a liberal patron, and trustee of the Polytechnic School at Chittenango, and though much adverse to holding public office, he was once or twice induced to serve as supervisor of the town. He died at Chittenango in the year 1858, in the 59th year of his age.
